ITINERARY

Day 1: Santiago - Combarbala. Today we start our journey after the rush hour in busy Santiago and head up north through the fertile Aconcagua Valley where the world famous Chilean fruit grows. After passing through the small town of San Felipe the road will take us to Putaendo. Prepare to ride the winding "S" curves of the recently and lovely paved road to Cabildo. From here ancient tunnels will unveil the magnificent dirt roads that takes us deep into the mountains on a unique scenic route that will blow your mind.

After our lunch stop in Illapel we continue our ride passing through the Chinchillas National Park. Later we will climb into a valley criss-crossed by old mining roads that take us further up the mighty mountain trail of "El Espino". An abandoned road will lead us up north to the friendly town of Combarbalá where we spend the first night.

Combarbalá is a semi desertic valley surrounded by a magnificent mountain landscape which is better seen at the time of sun set by its colorful pink sky. The typical handcraft product of this area are objects made out of a semi precious stone called "Combarbalita".

This night we will enjoy a great meal in a cozy restaurant and sleep in a nice hotel. If the time allows us there will also be a chance for a visit to the Cruz del Sur local observatory for a stargazing tour.
